Answer to $150,000 question eyed

House panel starts leaked report probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ethics Committee is holding hearings in its quest for an answer to the $150,000 question: Who leaked the House intelligence committee report to the news media?

Congress also will be wrestling this week with a timetable for extending individual tax cuts as it returns to work after a two-week recess for the Fourth of July and Democratic National Convention.

The ethics panel opens two weeks of hearings today on the leaked report, which delved into abuses by U.S. intelligence agencies. CBS newsmen Daniel Schorr has admitted he had a copy, which he gave to a New York weekly, The Village Voice, for publication last February.

Committee chairman John J. Flynt Jr., D-Ga., originally asked for $350,000 for the probe, but the House cut his request to $150,000.

The panel hired ex-FBI agents who interviewed 400 witnesses. Schorr, who has been suspended by CBS pending the outcome of the investigation, and other reporters who reported details of the secret report have not been subpoenaed, but could be called later.

Members of the disbanded intelligence committee, its staff and aides are expected to testify, some under subpoena.

Flynt told reporters recently that investigators do not know who leaked the report and the hearings may not provide an answer.

The House, heeding a request from President Ford, voted in January to keep the report secret. It included details on Navy spying on Soviet missile tests and information on CIA support for factions in Angola, for Italian politicians and for Kurdish rebels in Iraq.

The Senate votes Tuesday on whether last year's $15 billion individual tax cuts should be extended for 12 or 15 months. Congress already has extended the tax cut through Sept. 1.

The vote is on an amendment by Budget Committee Chairman Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, to extend the full tax cut through Sept. 30, 1977.

Muskie says when Congress approved a $413.6 billion spending limit for the fiscal year ending on that date, it committed itself to extending the tax cut for that full period. But the bill before the Senate would only extend part of the cut through June 30, 1977, on grounds the next president should decide whether to extend it longer.

The tax cut saves a single person earning $10,000 a year some $151 in taxes; a married couple earning $10,000 saves $204. For a family of four earning $15,000 it is worth $180, and for a family of four earning $6,000, the cut saves $445.

The Senate also takes up this week a proposed "Watergate Reorganization and Reform Act." It would create a special Justice Department division to deal with official abuses like those that occurred during the administration of former President Richard M. Nixon.

The House also plans to act this week on a bill to extend federal-state unemployment compensation to 8.9 million workers, leaving uncovered only about one million persons, most of them farm workers.

The House also will consider a Senate-passed "sunshine" bill requiring federal agency meetings to be public unless they deal with topics such as national security and personnel matters.

New clues found in mass kidnap

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — Investigators say they have compiled new clues which they believe will lead to the capture of three men who kidnaped 26 Chowchilla school children and their bus driver.

"We have a gut feeling that we are getting closer," Madera County Sheriff Ed Bates said Sunday.

And Jack Baugh, criminal division chief of the Alameda County Sheriff's office, predicted authorities would be able to identify one or more of the abductors today or Tuesday.

"Right now we're optimistic that our investigative leads are developing toward some positive information that we think will take us to a suspect," said Baugh.

But despite "an astronomical amount of physical evidence," Baugh admitted that investigators still had not established a motive. "The only thing we have at this time is a kidnap," he said. "As to whether it was by terrorists or for ransom, I don't know."

The 26 children and their driver, on a homeward bound run from summer school, were forced at gunpoint from their bus and herded into two small vans near Chowchilla, a small farming community in the heart of the San Joaquin Valley.

Their captors drove them nearly 100 miles to a gravel quarry near Livermore in the southern San Francisco Bay area and forced them into an underground bunker constructed on an old truck bed. The captives dug their way out Friday night after the three masked men left.

Composite drawings of two suspects and detailed descriptions of all three men believed responsible for the kidnaping were released Sunday along with one complete and one partial license number of the two vans.

While investigators searched for three suspects, Bates would not rule out the possibility "four were involved." He declined to elaborate.

Despite progress, Bates was angered by the FBI's withdrawal from the case Saturday.

"Their sudden and unexpected withdrawal in the middle of the investigation left a vacuum that was very difficult to fill and taxed the resources of the state and county and hindered our investigation," Bates said in a telegram Sunday to U.S. Atty. Gen. Edward Levi and President Ford.

The FBI said the case was not in its jurisdiction since no state laws were crossed or a ransom demanded.

Coffee Break . . .

OHIO TAX Commissioner Edgar L. Lindley has announced the implementation of a 1975 Ohio individual income tax delinquency and compliance program . . .

In the first phase of the program, a questionnaire will be sent from the income tax division of the Ohio Department of Taxation to every individual who filed a federal income tax return showing an Ohio address, but for whom no 1975 Ohio income tax return (form IT-1040) or individual informational form (IT-10) is on record. The purpose of the questionnaire is to identify and separate the legitimate non-filers from those delinquent taxpayers who should be filing returns.

In the second phase of the program, those individuals who did not respond to the questionnaire will be contacted through one of the eight district offices of the Ohio Department of Taxation for an audit.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Embassy announced today that its evacuation of Americans and others from Beirut Tuesday would be by road convoy to Damascus.

Chartered planes will fly the evacuees immediately from the Syrian capital to Athens, embassy sources in the Greek capital reported.

There was speculation that ships of the U.S. 6th Fleet would be standing by offshore to take the evacuees off should the overland route be declared unsafe. But there was no confirmation of this from the Embassy.

A road convoy also was planned for the Embassy's first evacuation, in mid-June. But because of hostilities along the route, the Navy removed the 110 Americans and 157 other foreigners who wanted to leave.

The response to the U.S. government's second warning that Americans should leave Lebanon has

In squabble with B'burg council

Mayor locked out of town hall

By GEORGE MALEK

BLOOMINGBURG — While mayors are often called upon to give away keys to the city, Bloomingburg Mayor Max E. Grim is trying to obtain a set for himself.

In the eight years Grim has served as mayor of the village, he has always been in charge of the keys to Bloomingburg Town Hall. He has not only been relieved of that responsibility, but has also been unable to get a key for his own use.

At odds with council since two new members took seats on the village governing body in January, the mayor now finds himself locked out of his own office.

Council voted earlier this month to change the locks on town hall. They told the clerk to take possession of the only key to the village office and meeting hall.

Since that time, the mayor has been unable to enter the office he shares with the clerk.

Grim feels that by denying him access to the hall, council is in violation of state law and has sent a letter to members to that effect. Council members maintain that their actions are proper.

He has sought legal counsel, and his attorney pointed out several violations of law which Grim had not even considered, the mayor said.

"There are three of four ways to go, and we'll start with the easiest," Grimm said. He vowed to pursue the matter as far as is necessary to obtain keys to the building.

The mayor stated that according to state law, council must provide him with office space.

Grim added that during his eight years in office, he has seen 25 to 30 different council members serve. "These are the first ones I've had any problem with," the mayor stated. He said he had no explanation for council's action.

Council voted at its July 6 meeting to change the locks on the hall because one member said the windows had been open and it appeared someone had been inside the building without authorization.

Grim said two members of council changed the locks the next day. Some locks were cut open despite the fact that the mayor had keys available. He said he would have been happy to furnish this key if anyone had asked him for it.

Traditionally, he had kept the keys and personally authorized use of the hall. He said the Lions Club, the Community Action Agency, 4-H clubs and other organizations have used the hall for meetings.

He said he had given the key to responsible organizations and asked that the building be locked and the key returned when they were finished. For the past two weeks he has referred all such requests to the village clerk.

Since the change of locks, the mayor has been conducting business from his home. Although he said he would have liked papers and records kept in the office, thus far he has done without them.

During that time, however, he has signed no official documents. "I'm not going to sign papers on the curb," Grim said. He added that he will sign nothing, including village ordinances, until he is given access to the office.

Council is interfering with an official in the performance of his duties, Grim contends, another violation of law.

Since local attorneys have been reluctant to become involved in the village squabble, he has consulted with a Columbus attorney.

He did say, however, that both Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson and village solicitor Walter A. Seifried had told him he had a right to force the locks and enter the buildings.

That is step two or three, the mayor said. He hopes the matter can be resolved before such action becomes necessary.

Ford-Reagan race down to wire

By The Associated Press

President Ford plans to entertain still-uncommitted delegates at the White House this week, while challenger Ronald Reagan will be digging some post holes for fences at his California ranch and telephoning delegates to the Republican National Convention who still are on the "fence."

The Democratic team, presidential nominee Jimmy Carter and running mate Walter Mondale, relaxed during the weekend. Carter was at his home in Plains, Ga., and Mondale vacationed at a friend's cabin in Minnesota and went fishing.

With four weeks left before the convention in Kansas City, Ford took a day off from delegate-hunting Sunday, attending church in the morning and spending the afternoon on the golf course.

He invited delegations from New York and New Jersey to White House receptions this week as he personalized his efforts to win over the final delegates he needs.

Reagan today started what he said would be a two-week vacation at his 688-acre ranch in the coastal mountains near Santa Barbara.

"I think I've got some more fences to put up. I'll be digging some post holes, generally working around the place," he said after the last 55 of 2,259 delegates to the convention were elected Saturday in Utah and Connecticut.

The selection of delegates to the Aug.

16-19 convention ended Saturday with Ford sweeping all 35 in Connecticut and Reagan taking all 20 in Utah.

With all 2,259 delegates for the convention now selected, The Associated Press count of announced or mandated delegate votes shows 1,066 for Ford and 1,020 for Reagan, with 172 uncommitted and 1 for Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn. It takes 1,130 to win. The AP count does not include those merely leaning toward one or the other.

With Reagan trailing Ford by 46 votes, the nomination is in the hands of the 172 uncommitted delegates, many of whom have met or talked on the telephone with both Reagan and Ford in recent weeks.

The Washington Post reported today that some unnamed "top aides and supporters" of Reagan have said privately that he will be unable to win the GOP presidential nomination.

The newspaper said some of these aides feel Reagan's chances for success were lost 10 days ago when Ford captured a majority of North Dakota's 18 delegates.

However, Michael K. Deaver, the Reagan campaign's chief of staff, denied that North Dakota had been a setback, telling The Associated Press, "I believe we got in North Dakota exactly what we planned for."

Deaver said the campaign staff will prepare a daily memo with a list of uncommitted delegates for Reagan to telephone.

Neither Reagan nor any of his aides would say exactly how they expect to pull off their upset, how they are going to defy the numbers in the delegate count.

"I'm optimistic, but I don't think anyone will really know until the first ballot is counted," Reagan said in an

Celebration continues through Saturday

Old Fashioned Bargain Days open Wednesday

The pages of the calendar will be flipped back to the turn of the century beginning Wednesday in Washington as months of planning by local merchants unfolds into the annual Old Fashioned Bargain Days celebration.

The annual event will continue through Saturday. Neil Arthur, a member of the Record-Herald advertising staff and general chairman of this year's event, said the festival is sponsored yearly by local businessmen to promote the merchants ending their summer markdowns in preparation for the new fall merchandise and at the same time provide a community endeavor with participation from all age groups.

Not only do the merchants clear out many of their summer inventories, local customers can receive "old fashioned bargains" and the young and old alike may participate in the full schedule of entertainment activities for the four-day event.

Arthur said over 50 merchants started collaborating for the Bargain Days festival in January just after the Christmas rush and all their mental energies will take shape Wednesday and erupt into the four-day extravaganza.

This year's event is being held a week earlier than usual because of the Fayette County Fair. The fair will be held July 25-31.

"The fair is being held the last full week in July and the merchants felt they couldn't wait until after the fair for their clearance sales," Arthur said.

The event will open at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday with "old fashioned bargain sales" throughout the city.

Working with the Retail Merchants Association of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, the Community Education program will hold the annual pet show at 10 a.m. Wednesday on the Main Street side of the Fayette County Courthouse. Prizes of $5 for first place, $3 for second, and $2 for third will be presented in five categories. Judges for the pet show will be from the Welcome Wagon Club.

Wednesday's activities will close following a hoe down square dance on the Main Street side of the Courthouse. Carl Wilt will be the caller for the event which will begin at 8 p.m.

A senior citizens craft and skills fair will open Thursday's schedule. The event, featuring old fashioned crafts and skills demonstrations, will begin at 9 a.m. on the Courthouse lawn. The demonstrations and sales will continue throughout the day.

At 11 a.m. Thursday, a farmer's market featuring all home grown and handmade items, will be held on the sidewalk on the Main Street side of the Courthouse.

Thursday's activities will continue with a children's bicycle parade and show at 1 p.m. The bike parade is being sponsored by the Community Education program and will be judged by members of the senior nutrition group. The parade will form on the Temple Street side of the Washington C.H. Middle School at 12:30 p.m. and will proceed south on North Street to Court Street and to the Courthouse for judging. Prizes of $5 for first place, $3 for second place and $2 for third place will be awarded in three categories.

A patriotic musical, entitled "I Love America" will be presented at 1:30 p.m. Thursday on the Courthouse steps by singers from the Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union.

Friday will be highlighted by the first of a two-day sidewalk sale in the downtown business district and at the shopping center from 9:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. Merchandise will be displayed on the sidewalks as well as inside the stores.

The farmers market will be in its second day on Friday, continuing throughout the day beginning at 11 a.m. on the Main Street side of the Courthouse.

An old-fashioned ice cream social will be held beginning at 4:30 p.m. Friday on the Courthouse lawn. The popular event is again being sponsored by members of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club.

A we are square dance will close Friday's schedule. The square dance will be held beginning at 8 p.m. on Main Street.

A number of activities have been scheduled for Saturday to climax the annual event.

The second day of the sidewalk sales will be held starting at 9:30 a.m. to be followed by the American Association of University Women's annual book fair to be held at 10 a.m. in the former Mario's Italian restaurant on Market Street across from the Courthouse.

A barbershop quartet and chorus show hosted by the Highland County Chapter of the Society for the Preservation of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will be held at 12:30 p.m. on the Courthouse steps.

One of the highlights of each Old Fashioned Bargain Days celebration are the employe and customer costume contests.

The contest and old-fashioned style show will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday on the Courthouse lawn.

Clerks and customers (all age groups) will be fashionably dressed in costumes reminiscent of bygone days and will be competing for prizes of $15 for first place, $10 for second, and $5 for third.

The contest will be judged in four categories. They are the best handmade by employe and customer, and the best authentic by employe and customer.

Mrs. Betty Wonderleigh, of the Martha Washington Shop, is general chairman of both the employe and customer costume contests.

Barbershop quartet music by the Highland County-based organization will be the final activity on Saturday. The music will begin at 3:30 p.m. on the Courthouse steps.

interview on the flight home from Salt Lake City.

But Reagan and his aides listed seven states where they say they have especially good hopes of winning uncommitted delegates: Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Deaver said he believes the remaining uncommitted delegates are people who find both Ford and Reagan acceptable, and that the issue in their minds is whether Ford or Reagan stands a better chance of beating Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter.

Extended recent interviews by The Associated Press with about one-third of the uncommitted show that issues are generally taking a back seat and that these delegates are trying to figure out which candidate would be more likely to beat Carter in November.

The uncommitted list electability, the opinions of their constituents and what the candidates do during the next month as factors most likely to influence their ultimate choice between Ford and Reagan.

The arithmetic at this point seems definitely in Ford's favor, with the President needing 46 fewer votes from the uncommitted pool than Reagan in order to reach 1,130. And there seem to be more delegates who appear likely to tip toward Ford than toward Reagan.

For Reagan to win, he must cut into Ford's Northeast strength, win almost every available uncommitted vote in the South and get the bulk of those who appear to be up for grabs in other states.

Ford campaign aides also said Sunday there were hopes that he would be able to announce this week that he had reached the magic figure of 1,130 delegates.

White House advisers also were considering a trip to Mississippi next Saturday if it appeared that the state's 30-uncommitted delegates might be willing to provide the dramatic finale to Ford's quest for the nomination.

Auto workers open contract talks

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers, armed with a list of demands that begins with "job security," meets with General Motors today to open this year's round of contract talks with the nation's auto industry.

The UAW opens its triennial negotiations with other car makers later this week as it begins the task of reaching new three-year accords covering 680,000 U.S. and Canadian workers.

The talks to replace the current pacts which expire in mid-September will affect more workers than any other industry agreement being worked out this year.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock was to lead union negotiators into a largely ceremonial hand-shaking, picture-taking session with GM bargainers, headed by labor relations vice president George Morris.

Similar meetings will be held at Ford Motor Co. on Tuesday, Chrysler Corp.

on Wednesday and American Motors Corp. on Thursday.

The start of formal talks this year has been preceded by unusually optimistic predictions from both sides that peaceful settlements can be reached without a national strike for the first time since 1964.

The issue of jobs — how to create them and preserve them — is the union's chief demand this year as it seeks to provide workers better protection from another disastrous industry slump.

More than 200,000 workers were left jobless in 1974 and 1975, when the energy crisis and subsequent recession sent Detroit tumbling into its worst downturn since the 1930s.

The industry has staged a strong recovery this year, however. Car sales are strong, profits have returned to near record levels and indefinite layoffs have declined to less than 30,000. And both the UAW and the companies forecast continued health through 1980, an outlook which both sides say should promote a spirit of harmony and cooperation at the bargaining table.

The UAW will seek increased job security with demands for a reduction in working time without a cut in pay to create more jobs. It has not made any specific proposals yet. Some militant unionists have called for a 32-hour, four-day week, but union leaders say that goal is unattainable this year.

The industry's chief demand is for a restructuring of health care benefits — now paid by the companies — to ease skyrocketing cost increases. The makers hint they would like to pass some of the premium costs to employees, but the union adamantly opposes the idea.

Demands for big wage increases have not been widespread this year because of unlimited cost-of-living clauses in current contracts which have protected workers from inflation.

Queen enjoying visit to Canada

MONTREAL (AP) — On a beautiful Canadian afternoon the queen entertained at a small party on the royal yacht Britannia to celebrate the Olympics. The dignity of the realm was everywhere in evidence. And Elizabeth II proved to be as gracious and regal as ever hoped for in a queen.

Looking forward to seeing her daughter, Princess Anne, competing in the Olympic equestrian events, the queen seemed excited and gregarious despite her long American Bicentennial trip.

Despite a protocol officer's statement that there would be no reporting on the Sunday party, the queen answered questions from American reporters.

Like any mother, she was proud to have her daughter marching in the Olympic opening ceremony. However, even though the queen had the best seat in the house as she formally opened the games, she never saw Anne.

"Perhaps she had her (wide-brimmed) hat turned down over her face, but I couldn't pick her out," said the queen. "But my husband did."

Prince Philip was talking to an Olympics official a few feet away. He had, indeed, spotted the princess, first member of the royal family ever to compete in the Olympics.

"She was near the end of the procession, wasn't she?" asked the queen. The answer was yes.

Had she talked with Anne, who is staying at the Olympic village?

"No, I haven't. I'm never home," Elizabeth said with a bemused laugh. "Even when I'm out here, I can't be reached." Her schedule has been loaded with public appearances but she said she was looking forward to going to Bromont, Quebec, later this week to watch Anne compete.

The queen talked with about 50 people on the second deck at the stern of the yacht, where the efficient ship's crew had assembled hors d'oeuvres and cocktails for the Olympic officials and a few reporters.

Young seamen in starched white jackets carried silver trays.

It was a colorful spectacle, and tourists lined the banks of Bickerdike Basin where the yacht is docked, hoping to catch a glimpse of royalty.

After an hour, Elizabeth and Philip slipped away to their quarters below decks and the Naval officers bid everyone goodbye.

Thailand to get benefit of bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thailand, which ordered American military forces to leave, is getting $388 million worth of U.S.-built bases and base improvements for free.

On the eve of the July 20 deadline imposed by Thailand for departure of virtually all U.S. military personnel, Pentagon officials said no attempt has been or will be made to get the Thai government to pay anything for the facilities that will be left behind.

Pentagon officials take the position that the bases were built to support U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and that, as one senior official put it, "We got what we wanted out of them."

Among major capital improvements, the U.S. departure leaves Thailand with a significant port at Sattahap on the Gulf of Thailand and a big airport with an 11,500-foot runway at Utapao.

Another legacy of the U.S. presence is a two-lane, all-weather highway reaching from the Gulf of Thailand into the interior.

In addition to these improvements, the Thais are getting a ready-made U.S.-built communications system to link bases in Thailand. The United States will rent to the Thais about $2 million in related equipment to help operate the system.

The Thais are expected to pay about $45 million for 15,000 tons of U.S. ammunition. There will be no cut-price sale, officials said.

Last fall, the United States quietly gave the Thais 23 military planes and helicopters flown to what were then U.S. bases by fleeing South Vietnamese and Cambodian pilots. Those aircraft were old or of little use to the United States, Pentagon officials said.

But the United States refused Thai demands for 82 other former South Vietnamese and Cambodian planes. And the United States has removed from Thailand about 20,000 tons of bombs and other ammunition and "all the things we could use," a Pentagon official said.

Under the new arrangement, the Thais are permitting the United States to refuel planes at one base, Takli, while those planes are en route between the Pacific area and the Indian Ocean region.

Also, the Thais have agreed to furnish the United States information from a seismic station at Chiang Mai in northern Thailand. The United States is training Thai technicians to operate this former U.S. station, which monitors underground nuclear tests in central Russia.

But the Thais rejected U.S. appeals for continued American operation of an intelligence gathering station at Ramasan in northern Thailand.

"This is an intelligence loss that we can't entirely replace," said a senior Pentagon official. Ramasan was used to electronically spy on radio communications in China and North Vietnam.

The last time the United States used Thailand for a major operation was May 1975 when Marines staged from there the rescue of the crew of the merchant ship Mayaguez, being held by the Cambodian navy.

Stocks show slight gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market posted a slight gain in active trading today, trying to overcome the profit taking that weighed it down last week.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in the early going, and gainers took a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The composite ticker tape reporting trades in NYSE stocks ran up to 5 minutes late shortly after the opening.

Analysts said the market was getting some support from hopes that negotiations between the United Auto Workers union and major car manufacturers would produce a contract agreement without a strike.

Mesabi Trust Certificates topped the active list, unchanged at 67 1/2. A 29,500 share block traded at that price.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 4.25 to 993.21, finishing the week with a net drop of 9.90.

Declines outnumbered advances by about a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index was down .29 at 55.94.

Big Board volume came to 20.45 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell .58 to 106.02.

Farmers like minutemen in Rhodesia

By JOHN EDLIN
Associated Press Writer
CENTENARY EAST, Rhodesia (AP)
— Len Phillips, bronzed and blond and dressed in immaculate white shorts and shirt, bounded into the sport club here, draped his Belgianmade F.N.

rifle over a rack and quipped: "Anyone for tennis?"
A South African-born farmer perched on a bar stool in the corner chuckled and asked wryly: "Who says there's a war on?"

Then, glancing at the array of shotguns, rifles and revolvers alongside the F.N., he quickly explained: "Those are for shooting guinea fowl."

If the farmers living in the front line of the war between forces of the white minority government and nationalist guerrillas seeking black rule are unnerved they mask it with cynical indifference.

But the pock-marked walls of this club in the far northeast of Rhodesia and the jagged holes in the windows are reminders to the 60 club members and their wives and children of the conflict.

Two weeks ago a band described by the government as Mozambique-based guerrillas raked the clubhouse with machine-gun fire and unleashed a salvo of rockets, one of which destroyed a Land-Rover parked outside.

A 10-minute gun-battle ensued. Then the guerrillas melted away into the dense bush.

"If it hasn't been for the Land-Rover being hit," says Dick Faasen, pausing between deep draughts of icy lager,
"these guys probably wouldn't be here today. The rocket would have come right through the bar."

Faasen's tobacco farm, surrounded by security fencing, is four miles from the Centenary East Sports Club. He lives in the thatched-roof homestead
he and his wife, Anne, built 16 years ago
while they lived in tents.

In a separate compound, also ringed by wire, live his 60 black laborers and their families.

During the evenings when Faasen sits in his lounge watching television with a shotgun and an alarm system linking a military base at his side, the blacks are confined to their quarters.

Guerrillas are suspected to have used the Faasen compounds on occasions to sleep and eat, and Faasen has fired two workers thought to have helped the rebels.

An intelligence man points at a map of northeastern Rhodesia on the wall of his makeshift office.

It covers the area codenamed
"Operation Hurricane" where black guerrillas first infiltrated at the start of the war almost four years ago.

About half of the 1,300 guerrillas reported to be in Rhodesia operate in the northeast. Only 80 are thought to have been in this sector at Christmas, before the 1976 offensive.

The government reports its troops have killed 1,068 guerrillas — almost half this year alone — for the loss of 127 men.

But even though the 2,000 white farmers in "Hurricane" don't show it, recent attacks by the rebels have forced them to be more careful.

Higher prices fail to slow park use

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Higher prices aren't keeping people away from Ohio's state parks, according to figures from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The number of people visiting the parks and the number staying in lodges or cabins is about the same as last year, while the increased fees mean more income for Ohio.

Incomplete reports from fiscal year
1976, which ended June 30, indicate 39.3 million persons attended the state parks compared with 39.5 million in fiscal 1975. The DNR expects the 1976 figure to surpass last year's when all accounts are in.

Despite higher prices this year for staying in the lodges, DNR figures show 244,954 rental nights at the lodges in the incomplete figures for fiscal 1976, versus 191,343 rental nights one year ago.

A rental night is one person using one room for one night. Thus, a family of four spending three days in a room or cabin is considered 12 rental nights.

For cabins, which also cost more this year, the incomplete 1976 figure is 312,398 rental nights compared with 358,876 rental nights in fiscal 1975.

Continuing high attendance, plus the increased fees for lodging, boat docks and golf courses, should be a financial boon for the state, which is happy to gain revenue from any source.

Ohio Inns, Inc., returned $1.01 million to the state last year from its $5.6
million gross income from facilities it operates at Burr Oak, Hueston Woods, Mohican, Punderson, Salt Fork and Shawnee State Parks. Ohio Inns pays the state a percentage of its take which varies from one park to another.

At Burr Oak, for example, Ohio Inns pays the state 20 per cent of the first $300,000 gross and five per cent after that. At Hueston Woods, the state gets 20 per cent for the first $850,000 and five per cent above that figure.

DNR officials say prices at state lodges compare with private facilities.
Lodge rooms at Burr Oak cost $21 a day
during the season and $19 in the Nov. 1-May 31 off season. Lodge rooms at Hueston Woods, Mohican and Salt Fork are $28 in summer and $24 the rest of the year.

Deluxe cabins at Burr Oak, Punderson, Shawnee and Salt Fork rent for $155 a week. Deluxe cabins are $117 a week at Hueston Woods.

All the prices went up this year and they'll rise again Jan. 1.

In spite of the increasing cost,
Ohioans are supporting their parks.
According to Ralph Vanzandt, chief of the Parks and Recreation division, "If we had more parks, people would use them."

Kidnapping motive still mystery

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — The motive is still a mystery. But the methods used by three silent, masked men who kidnaped 26 children and their bus driver make one thing clear — it was a crime planned out to the fullest, months in advance.

But it didn't work. The children escaped.

Still, that the captors could snatch a busload of mostly tiny children in daylight from a town where everyone seems to know everyone else, and then frustrate extensive search efforts by FBI, state and local law officers for more than 24 hours, testifies to their thorough preparation.

When the plan was hatched is unknown. As far back as November 1975, however, one of the suspects is known to have bought three government surplus vans, one of which authorities have traced to the kidnap-ing. He paid with cash.

Two of the three he bought were never registered. The other was registered two days before the crime in Los Gatos, near San Jose. Because of that, investigators said they had to search for records of the van by hand since the information hadn't been filed in the Department of Motor Vehicles computer.

The name and San Jose address the van was registered under turned out to be phony, according to Madera County Sheriff Ed Bates.

The vans were well equipped for a flight from the scene of the crime. They carried:

—CB radios, ideal for monitoring police activity, but made even more useful by the gabby "CB volunteers" who blasted out from Chowchilla nearly every tidbit of information known about the investigation.

—Painted windows, so no one could see out — or in — and a tent-like tarp made the roundabout route to the gravel pits 100 miles away a mystery to those inside.

—A good supply of extra gasoline which kept the kidnapers from having to pull into a service station and taking the risk of an attendant being tipped off.

California Highway Patrolmen had quickly alerted gas stations on the

City residents

unhappy with birds

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — Residents say they're fed up with the presence of thousands of birds in a densely forested area on this central Indiana community's southwest side.

So they've taken their complaint to the president of the city council who says he's ready to serve the winged creatures with an eviction notice.

But a health department official says
the birds — which include grackles, crows, starlings, red winged blackbirds and cowbirds — are just looking for a little security and some peace and quiet.

"The birds go there because they feel secure there," explains Tim Decker.
"The place is quiet, not much noise, and the birds feel protected from predators because of the density of the woods."

But that hasn't soothed the feelings of the city's residents any. One way or another, they want the birds — estimated at 7,000-15,000 — out.

Mondale a sound choice

Jimmy Carter chose well in deciding upon Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota as his running mate. This is said in an objective frame of mind, with less regard to Mondale's supposed place in the ideological spectrum than to his stature as a senator and to the nature of his concerns. And, additionally, with attention to qualities and strengths he will bring to the Democratic ticket.

It is often said of Mondale, who first came to the Senate by appointment when Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey was elected vice president in 1964, that he is a Humphrey protege. This is true, but not in any subservient sense; Mondale has proved to be very much his own man, and has twice been elected in his own right.

He is an issue-oriented legislator who sees membership in the Senate as an opportunity to do something about problems he considers important. His greatest public attention has sprung from his involvement in efforts to affirm and strengthen the rights of children, but he also has done yeoman service in fields of less obvious popular interest. Most notably, he serves on both the Finance and Budget committees, which has given him a lively sense of the practical realities of spending public revenues.

Mondale is no dream candidate, in terms of balancing the Democratic ticket. He is not a Catholic, and that is still held by some to be signally important in presidential politics. He is less well known than many others in public life - for example, several of the other senators whom Carter was said to be considering up to the last.

But Mondale also, apart from matters of character and style, embodies considerable strengths. He comes from a fairly populous agricultural state, yet has a strong urban background in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. He enjoys the approval of most segments of organized labor, a point of special importance to Carter's candidacy since Carter has had relatively little labor background. He is viewed in his home state as a good though not spectacular campaigner. He has the reputation of being a liberal, thus complementing Carter's more conservative stance. He has substantial Washington experience, but is only 48 years old.

Mondale, in short - and again, this is said in the spirit of objective appraisal - should prove to be a formidable running mate for the former Georgia governor. After his intensive weighing of prospects, Carter has chosen well.

Memo to Jimmy Carter

NEW YORK — Keynote speaker Barbara Jordan brought this convention to life. She set so high a standard of conviction, integrity fire, dedication to the future of each individual of whatever creed or color that those who follow her to the podium in Madison Square Garden here will find it hard to live up to her.

And that goes for Jimmy Carter, certain to be the nominee of his party. He has won his place by an extraordinary capacity for organization, dogged stamina, an unflinching surface of good will. This last may coincide with the mood of the country at the moment.

But in my opinion if he is to get out the voters, break the spell of apathy and cynicism, he will have to do more. He will have to emerge as a mover and shaker ready not only to unite the North and South but to give them a passionate reason to come together. This is beyond the reach of the smiling Jimmy Carter we have known thus far.

And to do this is so much more important than the speculation spun out to endless lengths about his choice for vice president. Any one of three or four senators with stature whose names he has tossed in would suffice. Perhaps Sen. Edmund Muskie might add a bit more if only because he is a Roman Catholic and various samplings have shown a Catholic disaffection.

But short of a fiasco like the one the Democrats had in 1972, their year of catastrophe, the vice presidency can add at most 2 per cent one way or the other.

Rarely have vice presidential candidates been stirring campaigners capable of drawing crowds. An exception was Alben Barkley who contributed not a little to Harry Truman's upset victory in 1948 when all the pundits and pollsters had taken it for granted that Thomas E. Dewey would win. This had gone to such lengths that two of the news magazines, printed in advance of the election, had listed Dewey's cabinet.

That suggests the real danger for Carter. He can talk about overconfidence, he can believe in the peril of overconfidence in the style of Dewey whose campaign consisted for the most part of a series of state papers delivered with magisterial dignity. With no effective challenge in his own party Carter has good reason for his confidence.

Yet if President Ford is the nominee of the Republicans, he can play a dual role: the incumbent who has guided the country out of the recession and the underdog, in face of the massive registration of Democrats and his dismal showing in the polls.

Ford can do this, let it be quickly added, unless he hangs Ronald Reagan around his neck as vice president. That would be fatal in the large industrial states with sizable electoral votes.

Let's say, on the other hand, that he persuades John Connally to take the No. 2 spot. That is where a vice president might count for a great deal.

A Ford-Connally ticket, it is the hope of Republican dreamers, could carry California, Texas, the intervening Western states between these two, one Southern state, possibly Florida, sufficient to put together a narrow total for victory.

This is a dream and the Republican convention in Kansas City is likely to provide a rude awakening as Carter and Reagan fight it out.

The answer for the Carter campaign is a unified drive with the talents and the loyalties of those who came close to winning the big prize all-out, full force, with their respective constituencies. Muskie, Hubert Humphrey, Birch Bayh, Sargent Shriver, Fred Harris; each one has a contribution to make.

The orthodox liberal says, "I just can't get worked up about Carter. He doesn't seem to me to offer anything." The answer to that through the long primary campaign has been, "Do you want another 1972? Do you want another debacle?"

Carter is a centrist candidate and American politics has always been in the center. The voters rejected Barry Goldwater in 1964 because he was to the right of center and George McGovern in 1972 because he was to the left of center.

This being true, if enough left-of-center Democrats — and they make up the most articulate wing of the party — sit on their hands in the campaign, the result can be a win for the Democrats short of a mandate or, in the most extreme circumstance, it could be defeat.

That is the prospect as the peanut farmer from Georgia starts on his hardest task thus far.

Thousands of anarchists, communists and labor agitators were arrested between 1919-20 by agents of the Department of Justice. Hundreds were deported to Russia.

"BUT I'M NOT AN UNCOMMITTED DELEGATE. I'M HERE TO GIVE AN ESTIMATE ON RE-CARPETING THE POWDER ROOMS."

Tony Marvin, once Godfrey show regular, back on air

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — After years of warming up the audience before Arthur Godfrey's radio program and being anchorman on the Mutual radio network's nightly "World Today," Tony Marvin retired to a quiet town in western Connecticut.

But today you can hear his voice on the four-hour "Tony's Time," an afternoon feature on WATR, a 5,000-watt Waterbury station.

"I'm my own engineer for the first time in years," said Marvin. "I'm enjoying it."

He cues records, pushes the buttons for the taped commercials and decides what kind of music to play, including show tunes, vocals, big bands and lighter contemporary sounds.

Marvin began with Godfrey when CBS offered him the morning slot in the late 1940s. His job took a delicate touch. He had to tell jokes to warm up the audience but they couldn't be too funny or "the star of the show couldn't outdo it," he said.

He remembers Godfrey as a good-humored person always willing to pull a prank.

At the height of his popularity Godfrey had five morning television and radio shows a week, a Monday night talent scout show on television and a Wednesday night television variety show.

After Godfrey's bout with cancer in the 1950s the television shows were phased out.

"Arthur told me he simply couldn't afford me any more and the parting was amicable," Marvin said. "I was never replaced. Godfrey did the announcing after that."

Marvin said he and Godfrey still keep in touch.

In the late 1950s, after he left Godfrey, Marvin was the late afternoon personality at New York's WABC before the station changed over to rock and roll. He took some time off to travel and play golf, then joined Mutual Broadcasting System in the early 1960s.

Marvin stayed with MBS until it moved its operation from New York to Washington.

"I had bought a home in Southbury and didn't want to go down to Washington."

One day when he was playing golf the owner of WATR asked him to do a weekend show. And it started all over again.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Which woman is the 'real' mom?

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago I married a divorced man whose sons came to live with us because their "real" mother thought they would be better off with their father. (They were then 11 and 13.)

I love these boys and think they feel some affection for me, yet on Mother's Day they always remember their biological mother with flowers, and I don't even get a card.

In six years I've done a ton of laundry, mended their clothes, cooked for them, shopped for them, and spent hundreds of hours chauffeuring them around. I've nursed them when they were sick and listened to their troubles. I lectured them about sex and drugs, instilling in them decent moral values. I couldn't have done more had they been my biological children.

Their "real" mother has had very little time for them. She never took them on a trip or asked them to spend a holiday with her. (She phones occasionally and makes plans to be with them, but if something better comes along, she cancels.)

I think stepmothers deserve a little recognition on Mother's Day. Just because we didn't bear the children doesn't mean we don't feel like "real" mothers. It would be a kindness to all stepmothers if you would print this.

HURT ON MOTHER'S DAY
DEAR HURT: I have long held the view that giving birth to a child doesn't make a woman a mother any more than owning a piano makes a person a musician. But the woman who takes a child into her home because she wants to and raises that child with love and understanding is, in every sense of the word, a "real" mother.

DEAR ABBY: I have a severe hearing loss. Six years ago I bought a hearing aid and experimented with it for a long time. I finally gave it up because it magnified background noises I had not heard for years and was more annoying than not hearing at all.

My family criticized me for not wearing my hearing aid, but I've trained myself to read lips and find it much more to my liking.

I do miss a lot of social gatherings as I can listen to only one person at a time, but I've learned to live with that, too. Sometimes I feel that I'm better off if I don't hear everything that goes on. DOING ALL RIGHT

DEAR DOING: Horray for you! Not everyone who has a hearing loss feels severely handicapped.

DEAR ABBY: We are a young couple expecting our first child in two weeks. Our best friend had their first child (a boy) and they named him the very same name we had chosen for our baby! We know they got the idea from us because when we told them the name we liked for a boy, they both agreed it was a great name.

We felt obvious resentment when we found out they used our name.

Our question: The other couple will probably feel obvious resentment now if we name ours what we had planned to, but would we be showing poor taste toward our friends in doing so?

NAMELESS IN OKLAHOMA
DEAR NAMELESS: Go ahead and use the name you like. Surely the world is big enough for two boys with the same name. And there's always the chance that yours will be a girl.

Home fire damage estimate $25,000

A Fayette County home was completely gutted by fire, and damaged to an extent of $25,000, according to Fire Chief Ken Spradlin of the Mount Sterling Volunteer Fire Department.

The home of Lloyd Lavernier, Ohio 207, reportedly caught fire by an unknown source in the living room at approximately 7 p.m. Sunday. Mount Sterling firemen battled the blaze for two hours before the blaze was extinguished. Chief Spradlin said the entire interior of the home and contents were destroyed.

The cause of the fire is undetermined at present. No occupants were present in the house when the blaze occurred.

Washington C.H. firemen investigated a vacant house fire and an automobile fire over the weekend.

The vacant house fire, believed to have been the result of arson, occurred at 810 Rowe Ging Road on property formerly occupied by Lafayette Moore. Firemen used water to douse the 12:05 p.m. Sunday blaze which they said was initially started by newspapers in the house.

A fire in an automobile belonging to Gary Whittington, 3549 Camp Grove Road, occurred while the car was parked in front of 131 Main Street at 10:24 a.m. Saturday. The fire caused by overheated brakes had burned itself out by the time firemen arrived. Damage was estimated at $50.

Antique cars stop in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three antique cars that set off from Istanbul on June 24 in the 6,000-mile Around The World Auto Race stopped here Sunday, and will be on display from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday at Park Centre.

The race, which is scheduled to wind up in San Francisco on Aug. 5, commemorates the Bicentennial, and was inspired by the 1908 New York to Paris classic auto race.

One of the cars, a 1911 Model T Ford, driven by Mr. and Mrs. William Woodke of La Porte, Ind., had to be towed after breaking down on the trip from Buffalo, N.Y.

Four cars started the race, but Herbert and Adam Zipkin of Mt. Kisco, N.Y. thought their 1909 Franklin had had enough after the 3,000 European leg of the trip.

The other drivers are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Benore of Holland, Ohio, driving a 1912 Detroit Abbott, and Edward and Mark Schuler, a father

Also riding with the Benores is 17-year-old Scott Finly of Tyler, Tex., a recent high school graduate who wrote to the race committee asking if he could go along.

Race director Mike Lapine said they have been right on schedule the whole way, despite numerous maintenance problems. He added that the response of the people in the 13 countries they've driven through has been "terrific."

Annual Armstrong model rocket launch scheduled

WAPAKONETA — Acrobatic flying by a team of stunt pilots, parachute jumping and a simultaneous launching of 50 red, white and blue rockets will be among the highlights of the third annual Armstrong Museum Model Rocket Launch in Wapakoneta on Sunday, July 25.

This year's event has been moved from the Wapakoneta Stadium to the Neil Armstrong Airport, just west of Wapakoneta on Ohio 219. The move was made to allow for more high powered rocket flights and to coincide with Air Show America. Air Show America, featuring stunt flying and parachute jumping, will be staged both Saturday and Sunday at the field.

The model rocket launch is being directed by Dr. Gerald Gregorek, professor of aeronautical engineering at Ohio State University. A model rocketry demonstration will take place at 4 p.m. with the firing of single and multiple stage rockets, parachute, streamer and glider recovery systems and motion picture equipped rockets.

The model rocket competition will begin at 5:30 p.m. with flights in streamer and parachute duration and boost gliders. Trophies will be awarded in each class. Registration information for the competition is available from the Neil Armstrong Museum in Wapakoneta.

The Armstrong Air and Space Museum will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday, July 25. The museum is located on Wapak-Fisher Road, just off Interstate 75. The museum portrays the contributions of Ohioans in the conquest of flight, from the early balloonists to Armstrong's moon landing seven years ago.

Goodyear blimp has final flight

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The July 4 flight of the Goodyear blimp Mayflower III over the parade of tall ships in New York City was the aging ship's swan song. Leakage in the 160-foot-long, 50-foot-high polyester envelope that trapped helium used to buoy her had become too great.

Repeated layers of aluminum paint over it had made the ship too heavy to fly well.

So after the parade of the tall ships, Mayflower III was decommissioned in Houston, where her successor, Mayflower IV, had been assembled.

Storms hit central U.S.

By The Associated Press

There was mostly clear weather from the northeast quarter of the nation, across the Middle Mississippi Valley and into Kansas and Oklahoma.

Cool temperatures were reported from the Ohio Valley and into the Northern and Middle Atlantic states.

Partly cloudy weather prevailed through the western portion of the country, except for some overcast skies along the Pacific Coast.

In the Plains it was warm with most places in the 70s.

ROAST BEEF IN A LOAF — a picnic sandwich for six.

Picnics can be spur of the moment

From the French custom of pique nique (meaning to pick at a trifle) has come a fabulous American tradition — the picnic. It is that wonderful excursion into outdoor dining that can be anything from hot dogs cooked over an open fire to sophisticated hampers filled with pates and quiches.

One of the joys of picnics is that they can be spur of the moment. They can literally be pulled out of the cupboard, if you have the basics on hand. Plan to keep your pantry stocked with things like breads and rolls, cheeses, convenient canned meat spreads, relishes, fresh fruits, thirst quenchers.

What about making one sandwich for six picnickers by using a crusty loaf of French bread? Simple. Just slice the loaf as you would when making garlic bread, but this time use roast beef spread, Cheddar cheese and shopped green chilies for the filling. Wrap it in foil for traveling to the picnic site and then just slice and serve Roast Beef in a Loaf.

One more instant picnic recipe for a delicious eat-out is Easy Picnic Pack-Ups, frankfurts rolls with a deviled ham filling. Or, if your picnic is more elaborate and requires cooking on location, keep everyone from "picking at the trifles" by serving Tangy Picnic Spread on crackers until the meal is ready.

ROAST BEEF IN A LOAF

2 cans (4 1/2 ounces each) roast beef spread

1/4 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 can (4 ounces) chopped green chilies, drained

1/4 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 loaf French bread (15 inches)

In a bowl, mix together roast beef spread, cheese, chilies, chili sauce and onion. Cut bread diagonally every 2 inches to within 1/4 inch of bottom. Fill with roast beef mixture. Wrap in foil. When ready to serve, slice bread between filling into individual sandwiches. Makes 6 servings.

EASY PICNIC PACK-UPS

2 cans (4 1/2 ounces each) deviled ham

3 tablespoons barbecue sauce
one-third cup piccalilli

Mother, daughter observe b'days

Mrs. William Marshall and daughter, Tina Marie, observed birthdays the past week, Mrs. Marshall's being on Thursday and Tina Marie's, Tuesday. They celebrated with a swimming party, cookout and Tina Marie's friends had a slumber party, afterwards.

Guests for the cookout and slumber party were Missy Gilmore, Tammy Gall, Christine Karafil, Jennifer Dowler, Sheila Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, and Tina's brother, P.R.

Mrs. Marshall received two lovely flower arrangements, and Tina received an old-fashioned wedding hat made into a basket filled with flowers in shades of pink.

A decorated birthday cake and ice cream were served, too.

FROM HEAD TO TOE, each outfit was assembled for under $30, including top, skirt, shoes, and all accessories.

Fashion at a Price

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

STYLE is where you find it, and you can find it in unexpected places. With a flair for fashion and an eye for a buy, you can pick up an entire outfit—including accessories—at the dime store. Admittedly, "dime" is a term that these days applies only to notions, and few of them. Be this as it may, Woolworth's still offers bargains for those who know how to put a "look" together—from basics to finishing touches.

To prove the point, we dressed two models a la mode from head to toe for under $30 each. Our shopping spree started with a crinkle-look tie shirt and striped blouse for one; a striped A-line skirt and T-shirt for the other. Then, we added accessories:

A small-brimmed straw hat, lettuce-edged neck scarf, slip-on shoe, two-tone matching earrings and bracelet for one. For the other outfit: denim platform sandals, bangle bracelet and matching loop earrings.

For a look at how accessories and skirts combined, see the photograph here. Both outfits are trendy, and right for office or casual date. The sum total of the parts is super. Even better, the parts can be switched around to mix with other wardrobe staples.

Out-of-ordinary cake

A cook who is looking for a different dessert, need look no further. For here's a recipe for a Very Special Spice Cake that uses tomato sauce as a major ingredient.

It's from a new cookbook which will be available soon nationwide in supermarkets, or via mail for $1.89. It contains 214 unusual and not so unusual recipes.

The colorful, hardbound book is Hunt's Complete Tomato Sauce Cookbook and if it's not available at your supermarket, it can be ordered from Hunt-Wesson Foods, Inc., PO Box 9058, St. Paul, Minn. 55190.

VERY SPECIAL SPICE CAKE

3 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 teasp. baking powder
1 1/2 teasp. cinnamon
3/4 teasp. nutmeg
3/4 teasp. cloves
3/4 teasp. allspice
3/4 teasp. salt
1 (8-oz.-226 g) can Tomato Sauce
1 1/2 teasp. baking soda
2 eggs, beaten
3/4 cup pure vegetable oil
1 cup chopped nuts

IDAHO TUNA POTATO SALAD is a main dish made quickly with packaged Idaho hash brown potatoes, a new cue from the West.

Main dish potato salads made a new time-saving way

Which is summer's best-liked salad? Most people would say potato salad. It goes with everything. It's cool yet substantial, and everyone enjoys the earthy potato flavor.

This summer, the Idaho people have a new way to make potato salad. In fact, it makes preparing potato salad a real cinch. What they do is use their packaged Idaho hash brown and scalloped potatoes to eliminate the work. You can get the potatoes ready using packaged hash brown potatoes as easily as just letting the potatoes stand in boiling water until the water is absorbed. This is one of summer's most time-and-effort-saving discoveries!

And another inspiration from Idaho is to turn side dish potato salad into convenient and satisfying main dishes. Tuna Potato Salad is one delicious version, using packaged hash brown potatoes. Another great main dish is Idaho Scalloped Potato Salad, using the packaged mix. Dried beef is used and the sauce mix that comes with the scalloped potatoes is utilized in an ingenious way to help make a savory dressing.

These two time-savers can be your summer standbys. They're great for vacation cooking and they'll save you time at home when you've been outdoors, and arrive home with only a short time to spare for supper. Both salads can be made ahead in the cool of the morning, and kept chilling till dinner time. The Tuna Potato Salad can be completed except for last minute addition of the tuna; the Scalloped Potato Salad can be made ahead entirely, ready to serve for the evening meal.

IDAHO TUNA POTATO SALAD

1 package (5.5 ounces) Idaho hash brown potatoes

1 3/4 cups boiling water
3/4 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna, drained

2 cups chopped peeled tomatoes
8 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
Lettuce leaves

Place potatoes in large bowl. Add boiling water and let stand 8 minutes or until water is absorbed. Stir in mayonnaise, lemon juice, celery, onion, parsley, salt and pepper. Cover and refrigerate several hours. At serving time stir in tuna, tomatoes and bacon. Serve on lettuce leaves.

YIELD: 6 servings.

IDAHO SCALLOPED POTATO SALAD

3 cups water
2 tablespoons salad oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup water

1 cup chopped seeded, pared cucumber

1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed
1/4 cup sour cream

Remove sauce packet from potatoes.

Heat water to boiling in medium saucepan. Add potatoes, cover and simmer 12 minutes, just until potatoes are tender. Drain and rinse with cold water; drain well. In large skillet heat oil. Add onion and cook until tender. Blend in sauce mix, then water and vinegar. Stir over medium heat until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in milk, dried beef, cucumber and dill. Stir in sour cream. Add potatoes and mix lightly. Cover and refrigerate several hours.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Guests entertained at family cookout

Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Penwell and sons, Mark, Paul, Timothy and John of Lyndon, entertained at a cookout Sunday evening at their home.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. William Garringer and son, Gordon of New Martinsburg, Ms. Ruth Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Garringer, Washington C.H., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Munyon and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Montavon and daughter, Melissa, of Greenfield, Mrs. Phil Williams and sons, Andy and Timothy and daughter Angie, and Mrs. Harry Penwell of Good Hope.

The evening was spent swimming, horseback riding, tennis, and playing ball.

Dave Tod, Ohio's Civil War governor, was one of the state's early mine operators. In 1842 he experimented with mining of coal in the Youngstown area and by the late 1840's he was producing about 100 tons per day in one operation and 60 tons in another. The coal speeded successful operation of blast furnaces in the area.

Attendance 70 per cent over last year

Record crowds view 'Tecumseh!'

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio — Attendance at the outdoor drama "Tecumseh!" is running 70 per cent ahead of last year, according to W.L. (Rusty) Mundell, producer-director.

Speaking to the board of trustees of the Scioto Society, which sponsors the award-winning drama, Mundell cited a comparison by calendar days, showing a total attendance of 12,270 for the first three weeks of 1976. This compares to a total of 7,226 for the same period in 1975.

"At the current rate of increase, the drama will seat over 70,000 persons this season," Mundell said. The drama's bicentennial season ends on September 4.

"Tecumseh!" which is running for its fourth straight season in the beautiful Sugarloaf Mountain Amphitheatre near Chillicothe, has long been one of the frontrunners in the outdoor drama field. According to figures published by the Institute of Outdoor Drama at the University of North Carolina, "Tecumseh!" has been the fastest growing outdoor drama in America for three consecutive years. There are currently 60 professional outdoor dramas playing each summer throughout the nation.

Other outdoor dramas in Ohio are "Trumpet in the Land," a professional drama in New Philadelphia; "Birth of Dixie," a semi-professional drama in Ironton, and "Gallia County," a semi-professional drama in Gallipolis.

Union angry with action by deputies

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP) — A union official says a rock-throwing disturbance by about 2,000 persons outside the Shelby County jail would not have occurred if police hadn't "treated us like animals."

Leo Bender, vice president of Local 725 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, referred to the manner in which sheriff's deputies broke up mass picketing outside the Copeland Corp. plant and arrested 35 strikers Friday.

Shelby County sheriff's deputies assisted by others from Champaign, Logan and Miami counties turned high pressure fire hoses on the pickets and then, using assault dogs, herded the strikers into a truck and transported them to jail.

Within two hours a mob had gathered outside the jail and began pelting the building with rocks, bricks and bottles.

Bender said the methods used by authorities to enforce a court ordering limiting picketing at the plant helped cause the disturbance.

He said authorities "wouldn't have had as much trouble as they did" if union pickets had been "treated as if they were human beings."

"Our people had been calm the whole time," he added.

Local construction booming

Construction in Washington C.H. has been booming in the first half of 1976. The estimated costs of new construction for which building permits were issued total $1,211,167. City inspector Glenn Tatman summarized the information from permits issued between Jan. 1 and June 30, 1976.

The largest single-structure project is the new Pic-N' Pay shoe store being constructed next to Lord's clothing store in the Washington Square Shopping Center. Cost of the building is estimated at $85,000.

Trans America Builders is erecting the store at 396 Washington Square under state permit 2808-2.

Jess Gilmore has obtained permits for a $250,000 project on Country Club Court. The project consists of seven three-family housing units. An eighth unit is planned next year.

Each of the seven buildings has an estimated cost of $35,000.

Although it covers only six-month period, the new construction in 1976 exceeds the pace which the engineering firm of C.F. Bird and R.J. Bull, Ltd., anticipated.

The engineers said that to pay for the surplus of funds, Washington C.H. would have to average about 100 new sewer users every year during the next 20 years.

The engineers predicted the growth would begin somewhat slowly and then accelerate, the first half of this year has been higher than the average necessary. The construction permits issued to date this year represent more new residences than the average per year for the past five years.

Tatman said there are 20 new homes, seven two-family units and seven three-family units to be erected. Two commercial buildings are to be constructed. Five homeowners are adding rooms or utility buildings.

Recent permits issued (June 16 through July 16) include:

Jack Lyons, Washington Paint and Glass Co., construction of a new commercial building on W. Temple Street near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. tracks. Approved by the Washington C.H. Board of Zoning Appeals, the project holds state building permit No. 762467.

Three persons hurt; driver charged

Parked car, house, sign damaged in village crash

While attempting to drive through Jeffersonville Saturday night, a South Solon man reportedly lost control of his car, struck a parked car and injured three passengers. He then proceeded to strike a house, and damage a roadway sign before coming to a stop.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported that Wendell R. Hannah, 20, of South Solon, was eastbound on State Street in Jeffersonville when his car went left of center, struck a Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad Co. sign, and jumped the left curb.

The car reportedly continued down the sidewalk and struck a parked car whose occupants were attempting to leave the vehicle at the time. The driver of the car was Rita Andrews, 33, of Jeffersonville.

According to sheriff's deputies, the impact between the two cars caused the second car to be pushed forward against a house belonging to Harold Jordan, 30, of 30 State St., Jeffersonville.

Sheriff's deputies said that the Hannah car then continued across the Jordan lawn and struck the front of a house belonging to Richard Andrews, 28 State St., Jeffersonville. The car then came to rest nearby.

David Thurman, 12, of Jeffersonville, who was sitting on the Andrews front porch, was reportedly injured by flying debris from the accident. Both houses were severely damaged, according to sheriff's deputies.

Two passengers in the Andrews car, Rita Howard, 7, and Gerald M. Howard, 11, both of Jeffersonville were injured along with Ms. Andrews, as all were in the process of leaving the parked car. They were taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital after the 10:06 p.m. Saturday accident, and treated and released.

Both cars were demolished, and Hannah was charged by sheriff's deputies with driving while under the influence of alcohol, and reckless operation.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies investigated three other accidents over the weekend.

The unrelenting heat of the past week finally gave way over the weekend, and when it did, record low temperatures followed in its wake.

Ohio's temperatures fell to readings near or below records for the date early Sunday, and Columbus and Zanesville were within one degree of a record early today, at 54 degrees each.

The chilly readings were expected to be followed by sunny skies today and temperatures well into the 80s. Clear skies were the outlook for tonight, with temperatures falling back into the 60s.

The Sunday low of 53 in Columbus was a record—two degrees below the 1910 mark. Zanesville's 52 tied the July 18 record set three years ago.

Cincinnati's low of 55 missed the 1924 mark by one degree. In other close calls, Dayton was one degree above the 1911 low for the date of 51 and Cleveland's 55 was four degrees off the record set in 1971.

The cool temperatures are a result of a Canadian air mass centered over the Ohio Valley.

Utility rates hurt city

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Increasing utility rates have forced the city of Bluffton into a "precarious financial position," Bluffton Mayor William M. Fryback told a Congressional subcommittee investigating the effects of federal regulations on electric utility rates.

Fryback and other witnesses complained that power suppliers can raise wholesale rates without the final approval of the Federal Power Commission, while small utilities must be granted permission by the Public Service Commission to increase consumer rates.

The mayor was particularly concerned about an Indiana and Michigan Electric Co. proposed rate hike that would raise by 65 to 150 per cent the price it charges 15 municipal and seven rural utilities for electric power.

Spokesmen for municipal and rural utility companies said they would be forced to absorb losses if the FPC allows I&M to raise its wholesale price to the smaller power retailers.

Iowa's first bridge over the Mississippi River was completed April 21, 1856, and linked Davenport, Iowa, with Rock Island, Ill.

NOTICE

To the people of Fayette County, we the membership of Washington Shrine Club express our regret that due to the changing of the date of the Antique Car Show and "Old Fashion Bargain Days" being moved up to the week prior to the Fayette County Fair, we feel that a conflict of interest would create a small return from the Beef-Bar-Bq for the contribution to the "Burns Hospital Institute!" We the Membership hope to return next year and would like to thank the people of Fayette County for their support.

LEGION VICTORS — Jeff Elliott (11) and Bob Wilson clasped hands after Washington C.H. Post 25 downed Hillsboro, 3-2, Sunday completing a twinbill sweep. Elliott tossed a five-hitter and rapped out two hits of his own, while Wilson's fourth inning single figured heavily in a two-run rally.

James, Elliott pitch Post 25 to twinbill sweep of Hillsboro

By PHIL LEWIS

Sixteen innings of excellent pitching by Jack James and Jeff Elliott gave Washington C.H. Post 25 a sweep of a Sunday doubleheader and moved the local American Legion team into second place in the league.

James, pitching perhaps his best game of the year, shutout Hillsboro, 6-0, in the nine-inning first game. Elliott, the fireballing southpaw, made it a perfect day for Post 25 with a five-hit performance in the seven-inning second game.

The two wins upped Ron Helmick's Post 25 squad's record to 15-8 in the league and 22-12 overall this season. The league mark moved Post 25 into second ahead of Hillsboro which dropped to 12-9 on the season. Portsmouth has wrapped up first place with a 20-2 record.

James pitched to three more than the required number of batters in the first game. Only four Hillsboro runners reached base—one on a walk and the others on three hits. James picked off the only man he walked and the other three runners were stranded.

Post 25 got four runs in the fourth inning on just two hits as three Hillsboro errors aided in the scoring. The Court House nine padded the lead with two runs in the bottom of the eighth on three hits.

Post 25 tossed out 10 hits off Jeff Newby, who went the distance for Hillsboro. All ten hits were singles, but six walks, a couple of wild pitches and four costly errors made the most of the singles.

James, who walked only one while striking out five, relied heavily on his control. According to catcher Jeff DeWeese, it was James' curve that kept the Hillsboro hitters baffled. Of the 27 outs, 15 were on pop flies which was attributed to James' breaking pitch.

In the second game, Elliott took over the mound and continued to befuddle the Hillsboro hitters.

He gave up just five hits in a pitching duel with Jeff Conner, who gave up just six hits while striking out nine Post 25 batters.

Elliott had two of those six hits with one being an RBI double. Post 25 scored the tying and winning runs in the fourth on two walks, a balk, two stolen bases and a single by Bob Wilson.

Post 25 will wrap up its South Central League season Wednesday at Chillicothe against Post 757 before entering district competition on Saturday.

In the district tourney which will be held at Portsmouth this year, Post 25 will play the winner of the Bainbridge-Chillicothe Post 757 contest. That second round game—Post 25 received a first-round bye will start at 4 p.m.

Hillsboro, Portsmouth and Chillicothe Post 62 are in the lower bracket. If Post 25 wins its first game Saturday, it will meet the winner of the lower bracket at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Sunday's twinbill sweep was Post 25's final home game of the season, and Helmick wished to thank all the fans who turned out to watch the American Legion games this year.

Reds spoiling Pirates important week slate

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "This is an important week for us," says Manager Danny Murtaugh, whose Pittsburgh Pirates play nine games in the next six days. "We'll have to get a lot more than five innings from our starters."

On Sunday, Murtaugh got 4 1-3 innings from George Medich, and it wasn't enough as the Pirates lost a 9-8 decision to the Cincinnati Reds.

Medich took a 3-1 lead into the fifth inning, when the roof caved in. Tony Perez led off with a single and Cesar Geronimo followed with another, bringing up Dave Concepcion.

"I sent Concepcion up to bunt because I knew we had better get on the board quickly," Reds Manager Sparky Anderson said later. "I figured if he could bunt them along, we might tie it."

It worked better that he could have planned. Concepcion pushed the ball down the thirdbase line. Medich came off the mound to barehand the ball, looked to third, then threw wildly to first.

The error brought Perez home and left two Reds on base. Up came Mike Lum to pinch-hit for Cincinnati starter Don Gullett. Lum, who entered the game batting .233, drove a Medich pitch to the left-centerfield fence for a triple, scoring Geronimo and Concepcion.

"It was a fastball out over the plate," said Lum, "exactly what I was looking for."

Ed Armbrister came on as a pinch-runner and stayed at third as Pete Rose grounded to Pirate second-baseman Rennie Stennett. Ken Griffey followed with another grounder to the pulled in Stennett, who threw home but not in time to catch Armbrister.

With Griffey on first, Joe Morgan followed with his 17th home run of the season and fifth in Three Rivers Stadium to chase Medich, 5-8.

"The error got in there and everything turned out a lot better than anyone had expected," said Anderson.

Kent Tekulve came on for Pittsburgh and got out of the inning after giving up a harmless single to Johnny Bench.

Cincinnati tagged Tekulve for one run in the sixth, when Geronimo doubled and came home on Jack Billingham's single, and reached Bob Moose for a final run in the seventh. George Foster singled, took second on a wild pitch, and came home on Perez' single to right.

The Pirates made it close with two runs in the eighth and three in the ninth, but Will McEnaney and Rawly Eastwick were able to preserve the decision for Billingham, 7-7.

The loss dropped Pittsburgh 10 games behind first-place Philadelphia in the National League East.

Mets 2, Braves 0

Dave Kingman's 32nd home run backed a two-hitter by Mickey Lolich in New York's victory over Atlanta.

Carl Morton, 0-7, took the loss for the Braves. He hasn't won since he beat the Dodgers last Sept. 5.

Cards 4-5, Giants 5-4
Joe Ferguson's 10th-inning single won the nightcap for the Cardinals after Chris Arnold's sixth-inning sacrifice fly scored the tie-breaker for the Giants in the opener.

The Cardinals lost second baseman Mike Tyson to a broken finger in the opener. He broke the finger trying to tag a runner and will be out for three weeks.

Phillies 2, Dodgers 1

Mike Schmidt scored during a run-down play in the ninth inning to give Philadelphia its victory.

With Phils runners at first and third, Tommy Hutton grounded sharply to first baseman Steve Garvey. Garvey tagged first, but while trying to catch Jerry Martin between first and second, Schmidt scored to snap the Dodgers' four-game winning streak.

Padres 2, Cubs 1

Jerry Turner's two-out, ninth-inning bloop single scored Bob Davis to win it for San Diego.

The Padres had opened the scoring in the fourth inning when Rader doubled and scored all the way from second on a wild pitch by Ray Burris. Cubs catcher George Mitterwald apparently thought the ball had been foul-tipped by Kendall, and didn't chase after it. Rader, running all the way, beat a close play at the plate.

Gives slugger too much time to think

Tribe's Carty dislikes DH rule

By The Associated Press

Yogi Berra must have been right when he once wondered how a guy could hit and think at the same time. Rico Carty, you see, does both... but not at the same time.

Four or five times a game, Carty wields his big bat as Cleveland's designated hitter, with an occasional turn at first base. But most of the time when the Indians are in the field he's only a spectator.

"You have too much time to think on the bench," Carty said Sunday after leading the Indians to a 6-1 triumph over the Minnesota Twins with a pair of two-run homers and a single. "Oh, I know the designated hitter rule has probably kept me in the game, but I don't like it."

Carty's slugging display powered the Indians past Baltimore and Detroit into second place in the American League East... but 11½ games behind the New York Yankees, who lost to Texas 3-2 in 12 innings as the Rangers snapped a 10-game losing streak.

The 35-year-old Carty blasted his first homer in the third inning off Jim Hughes and belted his second in the fifth off Tom Burgmeier. The Twins didn't get him out until Burgmeier fanned him in the seventh.

While Carty supplied the power with his ninth and 10th homers and boosted his average to .301, reliever Stan Thomas won his first start of the season. Thomas, who has been used almost exclusively as a reliever since coming to the majors during the 1974 season, allowed eight hits and struck out seven.

Rangers 3, Yankees 2

Juan Beniquez' bloop single with two out in the 12th inning following an intentional walk to Mike Hargrove enabled Texas to snap its 10-game skid behind Steve Hargan's brilliant pitching. The Rangers tied the score on Lenny Randle's run-scoring single off New York relief ace Sparky Lyle with two out in the ninth and then beat him three innings later.

Royals 6, Red Sox 3

George Brett slammed a two-run homer and Marty Pattin, making his second start of the season, pitched seven strong innings to lead the Royals past the fading Red Sox. The defeat, Boston's fourth in a row and fifth in the six-game Kansas City series, left the defending AL champions floundering in fifth place in the AL East, 13 games from the top.

A's 10, Tigers 1

Don Baylor and Sal Bando drove in three runs apiece and Gene Tenace homered for Oakland while Paul Mitchell and Paul Lindblad teamed up to pitch a seven-hitter. Oakland broke open a 1-1 deadlock with a four-run fifth inning as Baylor doubled home the first two runs. Joe Rudi singled Baylor home and Bando hit an RBI double.

Angels 8, Orioles 6

Dave Collins singled home the tie-breaking run in a sixth-inning rally and Tony Solaita drove in three runs with a homer and single as California overcame four RBI by Baltimore's Reggie Jackson, including his 11th homer, a three-run blast that gave the orioles a 5-4 lead in the fifth inning.

White Sox 13, Brewers 3

Lamar Johnson walloped a pair of upper deck home runs — his first homers of the season — and Kevin Bell and Bill Stein added three-run homers to power Chicago over Milwaukee ace Bill Travers.

Johnson's first home run came in the opening inning with two men aboard and, after Bell hit his fifth homer in the second inning, Johnson blasted another to kayo Travers.

Johncock, Foyt win races

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — Fuel was the crucial factor Sunday as Gordon Johncock outlasted his rivals to take the 200-mile Indy Car half of the U.S. Auto Club's Twin 200 races.

But in the stock car half of the twin bill, brute power and survival of the fittest allowed A.J. Foyt of Houston to take the checkered flag.

After days of careful tinkering with special tires, delicate superchargers and suspensions, empty fuel tanks spelled doom for Foyt and Al Unser, both of whom ran out of gas while leading the championship car race.

Even Johncock, who collected $17,550 for the victory, gambled late in the contest that his fuel would hold out. His pit crew wanted him to come in for fuel when the yellow light came out with seven laps left. Car owner Pat Patrick shouted over the radio to stay on the track.

Johncock decided to remain at the front of the pack. "When they told me to come in, I'm glad I didn't," he said. "I didn't know how much fuel we had left."

Chief mechanic George Bignotti said two gallons remained when Johncock pulled into victory circle.

U.S., East Germans win, Russians fuss

MONTREAL (AP) — The American men swept their swimming event, the East German women dominated theirs and the Russians started a fuss.

All were more or less expected in the first full day of competition in the Olympic Games, but the perfect performance by an 88-pound, 4-foot-11, teenage Romanian girl couldn't be anticipated. It'd never happened before.

And that's what started the fuss.

Larissa Latynine, the Russian coach whose charges normally dominate gymnastics, tossed a disgusted look at the judges who had awarded little Nadia Comaneci a perfect score of 10 for her performance on the uneven parallel bars in the compulsory exercises.

"I question the performance," said the Russian coach, obviously seeing major competition for her stars, Ludmila Toukrischeva and Olga Korbut.

"I can see a 9.5, but it should not have been a 10. There were some flaws. It was not perfect," the Russian coach said.

The judges said otherwise. And the poker-faced 15-year-old marvel who achieved the Olympics' first perfect performance agreed. "I knew it was a 10 all the way," she said.

She responded to the ovation with a shy little smile, a rare occurrence for Little Miss Stoneface, returned to the podium and let waves of sound and adoration wash over her.

But while the Russians may have taken a setback there, they picked up two of the five gold medals awarded in Sunday's first day of competition; the Americans scored a 1-2-3 sweep in the only men's swimming event; the East Germans got two golds — one their first ever in women's swimming, the sport they're expected to dominate in the quadrennial Games that run through Aug. 1, and the American basketball team won handily.

Mike Bruner, easily spotted by his shaved head that led the way through the water, had to set a world record to beat out teammate Steve Gregg, Wilmington, Del., to win the men's 200-meter butterfly.

Bruner, a 20-year-old Stanford sophomore, was timed in 1:59.23. Gregg also broke the old world record at 1:59.54. Billy Forrester, Birmingham, Ala., took the bronze in 1:59.96.

Long John Nabor, a towering 6-footer from Menlo Park, Calif., also set a world record, 56.19 in qualifying heats for the 100-meter backstroke but wasn't overly excited about it.

"That sweep did a lot more for me than my own record," he said. "It was just sheer joy to see it."

The Americans' only other medal came as a poor second — some 10 yards back of the East German women's world record 4:07.95 in the 400-meter medley relay. Shirley Babashoff, Fountain Valley, Calif., swimming the free-style leg, won a duel with Canada's Anne Jardin, to give the United States the silver.

TV Viewing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The name Carlton K. Morse never was a household word, but his brainchild, "One Man's Family," once poured from radios and televisions into millions of American homes across three decades.

Although Morse, 75, concedes that the popular "One Man's Family" may have been the forerunner of the soap opera, he bristles when the term is used to describe his show.

"The first thing you must learn is that 'One Man's Family' was not a soap opera," he said during an interview at his home in Woodside, south of San Francisco.

"It was a dramatic family show. Soap operas are written by hack writers," he said derisively. "They have no characterization or plot."

"Until 'One Man's Family' there was no such thing as a family show," Morse said. "After we came on, everybody had to have one. That's when the soap operas came about."

"One Man's Family," which ran on radio from 1932 to 1959 — the last five years also on television — was the longest running serial drama in American radio.

It told the story of San Francisco stockbroker Henry Barbour, his wife Hazel and their five children — Paul, Hazel, Claudia, Cliff and Jack.

Morse says he had no idea the show would become the success it did. In fact, the first man who saw the proposal told him he was through in radio.

"I wrote three episodes of the Barbours, and gave the scripts to an executive at NBC radio in San Francisco," Morse said. "He read them and said 'Morse, you're through! You're all written out. Go away, and if you get any new ideas, send them in.'"

But Morse persisted, and finally NBC general manager Don Gillman said Morse could put his show on the air for six weeks.

"We went on two or three stations," Morse remembers. "In one month we were on all NBC's western network and after a year we went nationwide."

Udall sued over bills

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — The American Express Co. has filed suit in U.S. District Court in Alexandria to recover $124,170 it says Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., owes from the use of a charge card issued last October.

A Udall aide said the amount owed American Express is for purchases connected with Udall's unsuccessful campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. Most of it, he said, is for hotel rooms and air transportation.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court in Virginia because Udall lives in McLean, Va. It says Udall's card was revoked April 26 after Udall failed to pay for most of the items charged during the previous six months.

Fred Palmer, an attorney for Udall's campaign, said Udall has a total of about $200,000 in debts and plans to pay it within six to eight weeks.

Palmer said Udall is due about $200,000 in matching funds from the Federal Election Commission on July 30.

Ronald J. Greenen, an attorney for American Express, said the company has a policy of not opening accounts in the name of campaign committees. He said the card was in Udall's name only.

Everybody Wants Sedaka

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures

Neil Sedaka has a problem.
Lots of people want to make records singing his songs. And he wants to make records singing his songs, too.

Before his just-released album, "Steppin' Out," came out, he got lots of phone calls. The Captain and Tennille, who made his "Love Will Keep Us Together" into a giant hit last year, phoned. Did Sedaka give them an advance listen in appreciation? He did not. If they hadn't sung "Love Will Keep Us Together" he might have sung it himself and he'd have had the giant hit.

Now that "Steppin' Out" is out, though, and Sedaka has chosen to release "Love in the Shadows" as his single, the Captain and Tennille — and everybody else who wants to — can record any of the other 11 cuts. Sedaka would like to put out a couple more singles himself but he'll have to see what's left.

Of course that's not the worst problem that a 37-year-old singer-song writer could have and Sedaka knows it. "I've been writing 25 years," he says,
"and it's the most exciting thing. It's a problem, but a healthy one. We have absolutely had to keep the album in a vault until now. I have become the modern-day Cole Porter or Richard Rodgers.

"People are not writing singable songs. They are not writing songs that can be covered." (Covered means sung by other artists.) "They're writing autobiographical, introspective songs. You won't hear a Joni Mitchell song sung by anybody else."

"But my training is as a regimented, disciplined writer. I strive to get a hit of each song."

In conversation, Sedaka often uses the phrase "second career." That got its big push in the United States by an endorsement from Elton John.
John put Sedaka on his MCA-distributed Rocket Records label in the United States. "Everyone knows he is Rocket Records," Sedaka says. "When those almighty program directors of radio stations got my first single since the early '60s, they said, 'This is endorsed by

The bidding:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠

Opening lead - two of spades.

This deal occurred in a match between Germany and the United States during the World Bridge Olympiad.

Nothing much happened at the first table, where the U.S. North-South pair got to four spades on the bidding shown. The German West led a trump and declarer finished with twelve tricks when it turned out that West had the king of clubs.

But at the second table there was much more action. Germany held the North-South cards and the bidding went:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♠	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
Pass	Dble!

It is obvious that the South player at this table valued his hand more highly than his counterpart at the first table. He thought there might be a slam if his partner had two aces, and accordingly he used Blackwood. When North responded five diamonds, showing one ace, South had no choice but to quit at five spades.

But that didn't end the bidding. After two passes, Don Krauss, the U.S. East, doubled! This double, with an apparently trickless hand, produced a sizable windfall.

Bob Hamman, West, holding two aces and a king, recognized the double as lead-directing. He knew that Krauss was doubling on distribution, not high cards. The double clearly called for an unusual lead and Hamman had no trouble reading the situation accurately. He led a low club.

Declarer finessed, but Krauss ruffed and returned a heart. Hamman took the ace, cashed the ace of diamonds, and played another club - which East ruffed. So declarer went down two - 300 points - and the U.S. team gained 780 points on the deal.

Chiropractors for Allergy Treatment?

I just read an ad that says that allergies might be cured by chiropractors. Before I get involved I would like your opinion about this. - Mr. D.G., N.Y.

Dear Mr. G.:
When you say "before you get involved" it intimates that you are seriously considering embarking on a program that has no medical validity.

I, too, read that advertisement and, frankly, was shocked that it was even accepted by a reputable newspaper.

I was particularly disturbed by the following statement: "One way to help the allergy sufferer is to strengthen the body's natural defenses by restoring the unimpeded flow of the nerve impulses that keep the body functioning normally."

The statement continues, "If you suffer from any kind of allergy see your doctor or chiropractor today."

The exploitation of the sick by any method is distressing. People like you, already burdened by the discomfort of allergies, should not be enticed into a trap that will do no more than add cost to that discomfort.

It may be that the immediate response of some chiropractors will be that I, as a physician, am one of the many who denies the contribution to their patients. For them, let me state that I have always maintained that the chiropractor who recognizes his limitations can, in cooperation with physicians, make a definite contribution to certain patients.

When, however, such advertisements as the one you mention reflect total lack of scientific responsibility, these chiropractors do themselves a great injustice.

I feel certain that most chiropractors will feel as disturbed as I am about an advertisement that can only serve to undermine their fine reputation.

A simple rule of safety suggests that before you or anyone becomes involved in a method of treatment so foreign to the accepted practices by reputable allergists you should first ask your own doctor's opinion.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Do not permit a petty misunderstanding to destroy the valuable relationship between doctor and patient. Open discussion will help to solidify that relationship.

Hays heads for capitol

BELMONT, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays, pronounced feeling fit, returns to Washington today to face his colleagues for the first time since he was hospitalized for an overdose of sleeping pills taken at his farm home here.

The 65-year-old Democrat, central figure in the congressional payroll sex scandal, returns after Congress' 2½-week recess, stripped of his chairmanship of the powerful Administration Committee.

Hays has said that the June 10 overdose was accidental resulting from his inability to sleep, the jitters, and his being dozy.

He says that he took at least six Dalmane tablets and perhaps as many as eight after awakening three times during the night.

A spokesman for the House Ethics Committee which began an investigation of Hays' admitted affair with Elizabeth Ray said the committee has no action planned next week. A justice department probe also is continuing but nothing significant is expected.

Hays, in his first public appearance two weeks ago since being released from the Barnesville Hospital June 18, said that he planned to return to Washington on Monday if his physician gave the go-ahead.

The physician, Dr. Richard Phillips, confirmed this Friday and said that Hays "is looking and feeling good and is pretty much back to normal."

Gen. William S. Smith, 1830-1916, born at Tarleton, Pickaway County, invented the air-filled caisson used in building underwater foundations for bridges, and solved the problem of erecting skyscrapers on the filled-in ground along Chicago's lake front.

By officers over weekend

Property destruction theft reports probed

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated two reported larcenies and a destruction of property report, while Washington C.H. police officers investigated a reported larceny over the weekend.

Phillip C. Cornell, Danville, Ill., told Fayette County sheriff's deputies that a forced entry was made into his car as it was parked during early Monday morning in front of a room at the Day's Inn motel, U.S. 35 and I-71. A $130 citizens band radio was reportedly removed.

Three pipe wrenches valued at $36, and a $40 saw belonging to Gene Morris, 7921 Snow Hill Road, were reportedly stolen from a tool box on his truck as it was parked in his barnyard, sometime between 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Max E. Stevens, 45, of Washington C.H., was arrested for destruction of property after he reportedly damaged two sitting benches located on the Courthouse lawn. The benches which belong to the Fayette County Board of Commissioners, are valued at $15 each, and sheriff's deputies said the alleged destruction of property incident took place at 6:55 p.m. Saturday.

Kathleen Boylan, 14, of 532 N. North St., told Washington C.H. police officers that her $125.02 bicycle was stolen from the Washington Park Association pool area sometime around 4 p.m. Sunday.

Librarians eye additional funds

Librarians from throughout south-west Ohio met at Hillsboro for the July advisory council meeting of the Southwest Ohio Regional Library (SWORL), a regional association of libraries of which the Carnegie Public Library in Washington C.H. is a member.

Eric Halverson, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, said those in attendance questioned John J. Philip, director of field operations for the Ohio Library, on new regulations. They also discussed the 1977 SWORL application for continued state and federal funding.

It was announced that each SWORL member would receive a $1,000 grant to purchase reference books, and that the libraries could expect an additional grant of $2,500 in the fall to purchase non-fiction material for circulation.

According to Halverson, work is already under way to analyze the book collection of the local library to find out where the funds can be best utilized. The library staff will be receiving assistance in the analysis from Ms. Martha Poole, SWORL adult services specialist, Ms. Sara Long, Ohio Library children's services consultant, and Harry Brecha, SWORL's newly-appointed audio-visual consultant.

A colony for escaped slaves called "Ohio in Africa" was established by Ohio and later was annexed by Liberia. James Royce, born in Newark, Ohio, became president of Liberia where free blacks could live in safety.
